The Great War in Irish Poetry Fran Brearton, 2003 The Great War in Irish Poetry explores the impact of the First World War on the work of W B Yeats Robert Graves and Louis MacNeice in the period 1914-45 and on three contemporary Northern Irish poets Derek Mahon Seamus Heaney and Michael Longley Its concern is to place their work and memory of the Great War in the context of Irish politics and culture in the twentieth century The historical background to Irish involvement in the Great War is explained as are the ways in which issues raised in 1912-20 still reverberate in the politics of remembrance in Northern Ireland particularly through such events as the Home Rule cause the loss of the Titanic the Battle of the Somme the Easter Rising While the Great War is perceived as central to English culture and its literature holds a privileged position in the English literary canon the centrality of the Great War to Irish writing has seldom been recognised This book shows first that despite complications in Irish domestic politics which led to the repression of memory of the Great War Irish poets have been drawn throughout the century to the events and images of 1914-18 This engagement is particularly true of those writing in the troubled Northern Ireland of the last thirty years The second main concern is the extent to which recognition of the importance of the Great War in Irish writing has itself become a casualty of competing versions of the literary canon

Tongue of Water, Teeth of Stones Jonathan Hufstader, 2021-12-14 In a 1984 lecture on poetry and political violence Seamus Heaney remarked that the idea of poetry was itself that higher ideal to which the poets had unconsciously turned in order to survive the demeaning conditions Jonathan Hufstader examines the work of Heaney and his contemporaries to discover how poems combining conscious technique with unconscious impulse work as aesthetic forms and as strategies for emotional survival In his powerful study Hufstader shows how a number of contemporary Northern Irish poets including Seamus Heaney Derek Mahon Michael Longley Paul Muldoon Tom Paulin Ciarán Carson and Medbh McGuckian explore the resources of language and poetic form in their various responses to cultural conflict and political violence Focusing on both style and social contexts Hufstader explores the tension between solidarity and art between the poet's need to belong and to rebel He believes that an understanding of the power of lyric points towards an understanding of the source of social violence and of its cessation
