First Steps In Reading And Writing:

First Steps to Reading and Writing Christina Skarbek,1998 This text aims to investigate just how much can be done at the early stages of foreign language teaching in the way of preparing young learners for reading and writing It demonstrates how pupils can experience success and a sense of progression in their early years at school which should provide useful groundwork and should hold them in good stead for their secondary school work The aim is to ensure that young learners remain interested and motivated and to get them accustomed to working with written text and for them to enjoy experimenting with words The book offers advice and contains practical examples of teaching techniques

From Pictures to Letters Ellen Walpole,2017-11-28 Originally published in 1937 This book is an account of the special training necessary for the young boy or girl in letter making and simple reading The book uses Basic English the 850 words of which are included specifically for reference as a suggested starting point for the teaching of reading and writing and presents a system for teachers to teach letters by pictures The order of the letters in the main section of the book is from simplest form to most difficult with a later section showing them in alphabetical order This is a superb insight into educational history and a fascinating early explanation of a now common method
