ELEMENTS OF DESIGN
quick reference sheet

LINE
Lines are fundamental to design. They are used to define shapes, create patterns, and establish a sense of movement and direction. Lines can be straight, curved, thick, or thin, and they can be used to create a variety of effects.

SHAPE
Shape is the two-dimensional form of an object. It is defined by its outline and can be geometric (like a square or circle) or organic (like a leaf or a cloud). Shape is used to create visual interest and to convey meaning.

VALUE
Value refers to the lightness or darkness of a color. It is used to create contrast and to define form. Value can be used to create a sense of depth and to draw the viewer's eye to specific areas of a design.

COLOR
Color is the most powerful element of design. It is used to create mood, convey emotion, and draw attention. Color can be used to create a sense of unity and to distinguish between different elements.

TEXTURE
Texture is the surface quality of an object. It can be tactile (like the roughness of paper) or visual (like the pattern of a fabric). Texture is used to create interest and to add depth to a design.

SIZE
Size refers to the scale of an object. It is used to create a sense of hierarchy and to draw attention to important elements. Size can be used to create a sense of balance and to establish a clear visual structure.

SPACE
Space is the area around and between objects. It is used to create a sense of balance and to establish a clear visual structure. Space can be used to create a sense of movement and to draw the viewer's eye to specific areas of a design.
