Important OSHA Standards Contributing to Fewer Workplace Accidents

Standard 1910.132
Personal Protective Equipment:
Protective equipment, including clothing, helmets, goggles and other eye protection, must be used when process or environment presents hazards. Electrical safety equipment must be used where mechanical failures can cause deadly harm.

Standard 1910.147
Lock Out-Tag Out:
Before any service or maintenance work on a machine or equipment, the energy must be isolated and stored hazardous energy must be released. This standard requires employers to develop and use with their workers a "lockout/tagout" program that meets the requirements of OSHA.

Standard 1910.119
Process Safety Management (PSM):
Put in place in 1992 to prevent a major unplanned release of a highly reactive, toxic, or flammable chemical in other words, prevent a major hazard. PSM is a comprehensive set of standards that require 10,000 points of compliance.

OSHA Inspections:
OSHA inspectors conduct workplace safety inspections to ensure that employers are following OSHA safety standards. Inspections are conducted with employers, employees, and safety committees. They can result in citations, fines, and other actions. OSHA inspectors are trained and certified. They are also required to complete a written report for each inspection.
