

LESSON 1

It's time to play something!

If the left hand "selects" a note by depressing a string at a fret, what does the right hand do? The right hand actually plays the strings, but you have three choices of how to play with the right hand:

1. With a pick...

Because of its more accented sound, this is a preferred method of playing by many rock band players. Hold the pick in your right hand as shown and attack each string.

Pick with downstrokes (attack in a downward motion) or upstrokes (attack in an upward motion).

Using all downstrokes with your pick, play four notes on each open string (pressing don't mean any frets).

Open Strings

Picking and Grinning

String 1: G

String 2: D

String 3: A

String 4: E

Try the same example again but use upstrokes.
