Manning the Nation. Father Figures in Zimbabwean Literature and Society Kizito Z. Muchemwa, Robert Muponde, 2007 Gender studies in Zimbabwe have tended to focus on women and their comparative disadvantages and under privilege Assuming a broader perspective is necessary at a time when society has grown used to arguments rooted in binaries colonised and coloniser race and class sex and gender poverty and wealth patriotism and terrorism etc The editors of Manning the Nation recognise that concepts of manhood can be used to repress or liberate and will depend on historical and political imperatives they seek to introduce a more nuanced perspective to the interconnectivity of patriarchy masculinity the nation and its image The essays in this volume come from well respected academics working in a variety of fields The ideals and concepts of manhood are examined as they are reflected in important Zimbabwean literary texts However if literature provides a rich vein for the analysis of masculinities what makes this collection so interesting is the interplay of literary analysis with chapters that provide a critical examination of the ways in which ideals of manhood have been employed in for example leadership and the nation as a justification for violent engagement in the field of AIDS and HIV etc Manning the Nation Father figures in Zimbabwean literature and society sets the stage for a fresh and engaging discourse essential at a time when new paradigms are needed

Ripostes Philip Marchand, 1998 Ripostes is a collection of essays on some salient features of the Canadian literary landscape a number of which were first published in the Toronto Star many of which appear in these pages for the first time Included are essays on Atwood Findley Ondaatje and Margaret Laurence as well as thematic explorations of Canadian literature such as an account of the demise of the Survival school of Canadian writing a look at the recent history of the Writers Union of Canada an examination of the role of fathers in Canadian fiction a study of the strange attraction of many of our writers to the occult and so on The tone is considered and critical rather than celebratory although the essays are respectful of the genuine achievements of Canadian literature in the past few decades They try to clear the air as it were of boosterism political correctness and other attitudes which hinder the appreciation and reception of good writing This is an honest re appraisal of Canadian literature undertaken at a time when we need no longer be overcome with relief and euphoria over the fact that some of our authors are now world famous or at least world famous in Hoboken New Jersey
