

The Federal Communication Commission Rule

The Federal Communication Commission Rule (47 C.F.R. § 64.1200 (2025)) prohibits automatic dialers with prerecorded voice messages from calling residential phone lines without the prior express written consent of the called party unless the call:

- is made for an emergency purpose
- isn't made for a commercial purpose
- is made for a commercial purpose but does not include or introduce an advertisement or constitute telemarketing
- is made by or on behalf of a tax-exempt nonprofit organization, or
- delivers a specific kind of healthcare message.

Also, telemarketers can't abandon more than three percent of all telemarketing calls that a live person answers. (A call is "abandoned" if it is not connected to a live sales representative within two seconds of the called person's completed greeting.) (47 C.F.R. § 64.1200 (2025).)
