Victims and Survivors of Nazi Human Experiments Paul Weindling, 2014-12-18 While the coerced human experiments are notorious among all the atrocities under National Socialism they have been marginalised by mainstream historians This book seeks to remedy the marginalisation and to place the experiments in the context of the broad history of National Socialism and the Holocaust Paul Weindling bases this study on the reconstruction of a victim group through individual victims life histories and by weaving the victims experiences collectively together in terms of different groupings especially gender ethnicity and religion age and nationality The timing of the experiments where they occurred how many victims there were and who they were is analysed as are hitherto under researched aspects such as Nazi anatomy and executions The experiments are also linked more broadly to major elements in the dynamic and fluid Nazi power structure and the implementation of racial policies The approach is informed by social history from below exploring both the rationales and motives of perpetrators but assessing these critically in the light of victim narratives

The Irish Nation James Wills, 1876 Notices of the Proceedings Royal Institution of Great Britain, 1899 Protest in South Africa Heidi Brooks, Rekgotsofetse Chikane, 2024-01-23 Popular protest has become a regular feature of post 1994 South Africa As a young democracy born out of resistance we may understand the contemporary manifestations of protest as extensions of this broader history However it is notably in the context of formal democratic institutions that popular protest has become an increasingly normalised mode of influencing policy demanding service delivery and forcing change Protest is constitutive of South Africa's democratic politics but also reflective of it Protest in South Africa Rejection reassertion reclamation explores the underpinnings of contemporary protest and both its short term causes and structural drivers Focusing on the surge of protest from the mid 2000s this edited volume provides an overview of the complexity of protest action the diversity of protest spaces and actors and responses to protest from both citizens and state The volume situates its analysis against the backdrop of the global wave of protest witnessed since the turn of the 21 century while examining protest in South Africa s local and historical contexts Contributors to the volume examine protests in relation to among other factors provision of infrastructure and services contestations around socio economic development issues of citizenship and demands for inclusive democratic governance Chapters also examine the role of women in protest action the policing of protest and the intersection of protest action with spaces of formal politics The volume also alerts us to the darker side of protest and the destruction and division it may foment It thus considers the prospects of South Africa s evolving sometimes violent protest terrain for social and state stability and democratic progress In the diversity of spaces sectors and communities of interests in which collective action has emerged Protest in South Africa Rejection reassertion reclamation shows how protest is underpinned by a rejection of the status quo a reassertion of interests and a reclaiming of the political and democratic space
