Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and creating things that "solve" with a local focus such as water quality or waste management using science to assess or improve solutions can have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective solution.

Designing solutions requires considering various conditions, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Community members have a role in a solution cycle. Challenges, setbacks, and the inability to weigh their individual contributions for solutions, creating resources for a solution that they affect its cost and ease of use, cannot influence the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, determining how it works, what conditions affected it, and any compromises that have already been or should be made on the idea. Communication, strong critical thinking, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. The process of identifying a solution locally encourages responsible decision-making and helps communities thrive.

6A. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when working on a local problem?
- Designing a solution
 - Ignoring the most important conditions
 - Ignoring safety concerns
 - Understanding the problem fully
2. What does determining conditions in a solution help with?
- Ignoring the conditions of the solution
 - Establishing a solution that is safe and viable
 - Breaking the task into smaller parts
 - Determining what the solution has to solve
3. Which is an example of a trade-off?
- Finding a solution with no compromises
 - Ignoring safety concerns
 - Choosing a solution that is safe and viable
 - Using unproven materials
4. Why is compromise important in a solution?
- To avoid any input or resources
 - To make ideas clearer
 - To finish the problem as quickly as possible
 - To avoid choosing a trade-off

6B. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

1. A solution made after one failed attempt is always better than one that is made after several failed attempts.

Answer for each question.

1. Is a solution made after one failed attempt always better than one that is made after several failed attempts?

2. Why must this be considered in designing a solution?

3. What might happen when creating a trade-off?

4. How might science solutions be implemented?

5. Why are trade-offs essential in scientific understanding?
