conscious and unconscious compromises to create profit and power Mullenneaux identifies patterns of macro and micro negotiation and reinvention and maps them onto the waves of legal economic and social change to identify broader historical links that complicate notions of the influence of gendered power and the definition of feminism the role of the body embodiment in race class and gender issues the relevance of family history to the achievements of influential Americans and national versus inter and transnational cultural trends While Staging Family expands our understanding of how nineteenth century actresses both negotiated power and then hid that power it also informs contemporary questions of how women juggle professional and personal responsibilities achieving success in spite of gender constraints and societal expectations
