Historic South End Halifax Peter T. McGuigan, 2007 The South End of Halifax is well known as the wealthy part of the peninsula While it does hold private schools country clubs and some million dollar houses the area is much more diverse than its reputation The history of the district from its humble beginnings in 1749 as the South Suburb to its present popularity and illustrious image is extensive For instance did you know that the South End was once known as Irishtown Or that the famous author Oscar Wilde visited the South End Historic South End Halifax will undoubtedly expand your knowledge about this historically significant part of Halifax It is divided into sections that highlight the many transformations of this district The various incarnations of the industrial and military sectors of the South End are explored demonstrating the importance of the port status of the city to the area s development Also the roles of hospitals and universities in the South End s story are detailed Peter McGuigan also recounts the history of Point Pleasant and Francklyn parks and live theatre Historic South End Halifax contains everything that you ve ever wanted to know about the South End

The Grammar School Paul W Bennett, 2009-07-31 Dissatisfied with the state of in public education a small group of Halifax parents and university professors banded together in September 1958 to found a school of their own Paul Bennett tells the story of the Halifax Grammar School in this illustrated history Bennett describes the many larger than life personalities and the ebbs and flows of the school s development over the past fifty years In recent years the School has enjoyed a resurgence expanding to acquire the historic Tower Road School and doubling in student population This illustrated book explores how the Grammar School has influenced education in Nova Scotia by challenging the standards and practice and offering an alternative to the public system
