Food Fights:

Food Fights Charles C. Ludington, Matthew Morse Booker, 2019-08-29 What we eat where it is from and how it is produced are vital questions in today's America. We think seriously about food because it is freighted with the hopes, fears, and anxieties of modern life. Yet critiques of food and food systems all too often sprawl into jeremiads against modernity itself while supporters of the status quo refuse to acknowledge the problems with today's methods of food production and distribution. Food Fights sheds new light on these crucial debates using a historical lens. Its essays take strong positions, even arguing with one another as they explore the many themes and tensions that define how we understand our food, from the promises and failures of agricultural technology to the politics of taste. In addition to the editors, contributors include Ken Albala, Amy Bentley, Charlotte Biltekoff, Peter A. Cooclanis, Tracey Deutsch, S. Margot Finn, Rachel Laudan, Sarah Ludington, Margaret Mellon, Steve Striffler, and Robert T. Valgenti. Food Fights for Freedom United States. Office of War Information, 1943. Information Program, Food Fights for Freedom United States. Office of war information. Office of program coordination, 1943. Food Fights Sarah Wool, 2017. Food Fights arose out of an interest in American regional identities and a desire to find light in tensions. The project uses original design, illustration, and writing to explain four region-based food fights. In each fight, two foods are pitted against each other in a fictional competition. The meat of the project, pun intended, is an interactive, illustrated digital article that delves into each food's historical, regional, and cultural significance. Accompanying the article are four typographic posters, each advertising a specific food fight. The posters employ the bold Americana style of the 1970s and 1980s fight-night boxing posters. Food Fights combines research, humor, and nostalgia to showcase the regions of the U.S. and create interesting, relatable snapshots of each culture within a culture. I hope that the project can make you laugh and teach you something. Azúcar, 1944. Food Fight! Julie L. Lautenschlager, 2006-10-19. This book studies the contentious history of the American lunch and explains how divergent forces have carved out overlapping territories in the contest to influence America's eating habits. Early chapters explore the shift from agrarianism to industrialization and the pursuant lunch revolution and cover early reform efforts to improve lunch in schools and workplaces.
