This fully updated and revised edition of a classic guide to grant writing for health and human service professionals reflects the two major changes in the field: new NIH application processes and an increased emphasis on interprofessional and team approaches to science. New case examples reflect grant writing strategies for a great variety of health and human service professions and the text includes an enhanced focus on online methods for organizing grant submissions. A new section on special considerations for submitting grants addresses specific types of research including community based participatory research, mixed methods, behavioral intervention research, and dissertation and mentorship proposals. The new chapter on common writing challenges and solutions provides examples of strong and weak statements and highlights the importance of writing with precision. Additionally, this new edition provides an expanded section on post award requirements and links to NIH videos about grant writing. Written for individuals in both academic and practice settings, the guide addresses step by step the fundamental principles for effectively securing funding. It is the only book to provide grant writing information that encompasses many disciplines and to focus on building a research career with grant writing as a step by step process. It provides detailed, time tested strategies for building an investigative team, highlights the challenges of collaboration, and describes how to determine the expertise needed for a team and the roles of co investigators. The book addresses the needs of both novice and more experienced researchers. New to the Fourth Edition: Reflects recent changes to the field including an emphasis on interprofessional approaches to science and new NIH application processes. Offers additional case examples relevant to social work, nursing, psychology, rehabilitation, and occupational physical and speech therapies. Provides links to NIH websites containing videos on grant writing. Includes chapter opener objectives. Expands section on post award requirements. Focuses on electronic mechanisms for organizing grant submissions.

Effective writing in English Mike Hannay, J. Lachlan Mackenzie, Herman Wekker, 1996-01-01 We learn to speak and understand our native language without any great effort for these are natural aspects of the maturation of every human being. The skills of reading and writing by contrast have to be learned, usually in an educational context. Now when it comes to a foreign language all the skills speaking, understanding, reading and writing have to be learned, nothing can be acquired without considerable effort. This learning process does not take place in a vacuum, it is heavily influenced by our previous experience of acquiring our native language and learning to read and write it. These facts have been taken as the background to this book. We aim this book at native speakers of Dutch who have learned to read and write their own language and who now wish to add skill in writing English to their repertoire. Since this is our well defined target group we will be continually pointing to those aspects of written English which differ from comparable aspects of written Dutch while also giving a complete guide to the writing process. There are two matters concerning the presentation of information in this book that require clarification in advance Firstly the book contains hundreds of numbered examples Expository Writing Maurice Garland Fulton,1912 Effective Writing Student's Book Jean Withrow,1987-06-24 A practice book for achieving writing skills in American English in such areas as letters stories reports articles instructions business letters memos and opinion essays Traits of Good Writing, Grade 4 Jennifer Overend Prior,D C Perrigan,2007-06-13 Help students improve their writing skills by implementing useful strategies that can be used by today s teachers Effective Writing Jean Withrow,1987 Writing Effective Business Letters, Memos, Proposals, & Reports Samuel A.
