Gerard Martin Moeller,2006-10-24 This lively and informative guide offers tourists residents and architecture aficionados alike insights into more than 400 of Washington D C s most important landmarks Organized into 19 discrete tours this thoroughly redesigned and updated edition includes 45 new entries encompassing the House of Sweden the U S Institute of Peace classic buildings that epitomize the city the White House the Capitol Union Station and a number of private buildings off the beaten path G Martin Moeller Jr blends informed concise descriptions with engaging commentary on each landmark revealing often surprising details of the buildings history and design Every entry is accompanied by a photograph and includes the structure s location its architects and designers and the corresponding dates of completion Each entry is keyed to an easy to read map at the beginning of the tour From the imposing monuments of Capitol Hill and the Mall to the pastoral suburban enclaves of Foxhall and Cleveland Park from small memorials to vast commercial and institutional complexes this guide shows us a Washington that is at once excitingly fresh and comfortably familiar Commodification And Spectacle in Architecture William S. Saunders, More than ever architectural design is seen as a means to promote commercial goals rather than as an end in itself Frank Gehry s Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao for example simply cannot be considered apart from its intended role as a catalyst for the economic revitalization of Bilbao and its ability to attract tourist dollars regardless of its architectural merits A built environment intended to seduce consumers is more likely to offer instant gratification than to invite independent thought and reflection But how harmful if at all is this unprecedented commercialization of architecture Framed with a provocative introduction by Kenneth Frampton the contributions to Commodification and Spectacle in Architecture stake out a variety of positions in the debate over the extent to which it is possible or desirable to escape from resist or suggest plausible alternatives to the dominant culture of consumer capitalism Rejecting any dreamy nostalgia for an idealized present or past in which design is completely divorced from commerce and in some cases celebrating the pleasures of spectacle the individual essays range from indictments of particular architects and critiques of the profession to broader concerns about what the phenomenon of commodification means for the practice of democracy and the health of society Bringing together an impressive and varied group of critics and practitioners Commodification and Spectacle in Architecture will help to sharpen the discussion of how design can respond to our hypercommodified culture Contributors Michael Benedikt Luis Fern ndez
