Explorations In Nominal Inflection:

Explorations in Nominal Inflection Gereon Müller, Lutz Gunkel, Gisela Zifonun, 2008-08-22 Explorations in Nominal Inflection is a collection of new articles that focus on nominal inflection markers in different languages. The studies are concerned with the morphological inventories of markers, their syntactic distribution, and importantly, the interaction between the two. As a result, the contributions shed new light on the morphology-syntax interface and on the role of morpho-syntactic features in mediating between the two components. Issues that feature prominently throughout are inflection class, case, gender, number, animacy, syncretism, iconicity, agreement, the status of paradigms, the nature of morpho-syntactic features, and the structure of nominal projections. Recurrent analytical tools involve the concepts of competition, optimality, specificity, underspecification, and economy in various theoretical frameworks. James P. Blevins, Inflection Classes and Economy, Bernd Wiese, Categories and Paradigms: On Underspecification in Russian Declension. Annual Workshop on Formal Approaches to Slavic Linguistics Olga Arnaudova, 2004 Case and Agreement from Fringe to Core Stefan Keine, 2010-09-27 This book explores the view that impoverishment and Agree operations are part of a single grammatical component. The architecture set forth here gives rise to complex but highly systematic interactions between the two operations. This interaction is shown to provide a unified and general account of apparently diverse and unrelated instances of eccentric argument encoding that so far have remained elusive to a unified theoretical account. The proposed view of the grammatical architecture achieves an integration of these phenomena within better studied languages and thus gives rise to a more general theory of case and agreement phenomena. The empirical evidence on the basis of which the proposal is developed draws from a wide range of typologically non-related languages including Basque, Hindi, Icelandic, Itelmen, Marathi, Nez Perce, Niuean, Punjabi, Sahaptin, Selayarese, Yukaghir, and Yurok. The proposal has far-reaching consequences for the study of grammatical architecture, linguistic interfaces, derivational locality in apparently non-local dependencies, and the role of functional considerations in formal approaches to the human language faculty. Person, Case, and Agreement András Bányi, 2018 This book provides both language-specific and cross-linguistic comparative analyses of phenomena relating to person, case, and case marking and agreement. The book combines data from eight different language families with theory and explicit analyses and will be of interest to both formal and data-oriented linguists and typologists alike. Inflectional Identity Asaf Bachrach, Andrew Nevins, 2008-01-24 A recurrent issue in linguistic theory and psychology concerns the cognitive status of memorized lists and their internal structure. In morphological theory, the collections of inflected forms of a given noun, verb, or adjective into inflectional paradigms are thought to constitute one such type of list. This book focuses on the question of which elements in a paradigm can stand in a relation of partial or total phonological identity. Leading scholars consider inflectional identity from a variety of theoretical perspectives, with an emphasis on both case studies and predictive theories of where syncretism and other paradigmatic pressures will occur in natural language. The authors consider phenomena such as allomorphy and syncretism while exploring questions of underlying representations the formal properties of markedness and the featural representation of conjugation and declension classes They do so from the perspective of contemporary theories of morphology and phonology including Distributed Morphology and Optimality Theory and in the context of a wide range of languages among them Amharic Greek Romanian Russian Saami and Yiddish The subjects addressed in the book include the role of featural decomposition of morphosyntactic features the status of paradigms as the unit of syncretism asymmetric effects in identity dependence and the selection of a base of derivation The Bases of Inflectional Identity will interest linguists and cognitive scientists especially students and scholars of phonological theory and the phonology morphology and mind language interfaces at graduate level and above Yearbook of Morphology 2004 Geert E. Booij, Jaap van Marle, 2006-07-11 A revival of interest in morphology has occurred during recent years The Yearbook of Morphology published since 1988 has proven to be an eminent support for this upswing of morphological research since it contains articles on topics which are central in the current theoretical debates which are frequently referred to In the Yearbook of Morphology 2004 a number of papers is devoted to the topic morphology and linguistic typology These papers were presented at the Fourth Mediterranean Morphology Meeting in Catania in September 2003 Within the context of this denominator a number of issues are discussed which bear upon universals and typology These issues include universals and diachrony sign language syncretism periphrasis etc Scales and Hierarchies Ina Bornkessel-Schlesewsky, Andrej Malchukov, Marc D. Richards, 2014-12-12 The volume advances our understanding of the role of scales and hierarchies across the linguistic sciences Although scales and hierarchies are widely assumed to play a role in the modelling of linguistic phenomena their status remains controversial and it is these controversies that the present volume tackles head on Annual Workshop on Formal Approaches to Slavic Linguistics Olga Arnaudova, 2004 Proceedings of the Annual Meeting of the Berkeley Linguistics Society Berkeley Linguistics Society, 2003 Michigan Slavic materials, 1962 Working Papers in Linguistics, 2007 Czech in generative grammar Mojmír Dočekal, Petr Karlík, Jana Zmrzlíková, 2007 □□□□, 2009 Definite Markers, Phi-features, and Agreement Ruth Kramer, 2009 Agreement, Dominance and Doubling Erik Schoorlemmer, 2009 Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts, 2009 Language George Melville Bolling, Bernard Bloch, 2005 Studies in Language, 2004 Contemporary Views on Architecture and Representations in Phonology Eric Raimy, Charles E.
