Explorations Into Urban Structure:

Explorations into urban structure by Melvin M. Webber [and others]. , Explorations into Urban Structure Melvin M. Webber, 2016-11-11 The remarkable expansion in metropolitan growth rates has been nearly matched by the phenomenal expansion in the literature commenting upon it Social scientists of every discipline and politicians of every persuasion have been straining to understand the changing urban scene and searching for effective ways of planning for change However these efforts have been typically handicapped by simplistic and unitary conceptions of the metropolis Most of the commentaries have conceived the metropolis as mappable and discrete settlement and metropolitan planning has been conceived as willful redesigning of spatial forms In this volume six students of metropolitan development present a challenging reappraisal and fresh conceptual approaches to the analysis of urban systems Drawing upon the accumulating theory in economics sociology political science geography and city planning they reconceptualize urban structure and function refocusing attention from the forms of population density to the processes of human interaction They see the urban system as a complex network of functional interdependencies that are reflected in the intricate processes of communication intergovernmental competition and market decision The authors are concerned primarily with increasing the effectiveness of public policy in this field The conceptual clarity they bring to that task leads them to approach metropolitan planning with a new respect for the pluralism and diversity that are the distinguishing marks of complex urban processes It is only through the recognition of these processes that we can hope to overcome the seemingly insurmountable problems of urban planning and renewal In an increasingly urban society these problems take on pressing urgency Explorations into Urban Structure is a timely thought provoking and direction setting book about some of the key conceptual and policy issues of our time Contributors to this landmark volume include John W Dyckman Donald L Foley Albert Z Guttenberg William L C Wheaton and Catherine Bauer Wurster Explorations into urban structure Melvin M. Webber, 1968 Explorations Into Urban Structure Melvin M. Webber, 1968 Explorations Into Urban Structure Melvin M. Webber, 1971 Six students of metropolitan development present a reappraisal and fresh approaches to the analysis of urban systems Drawing on economics sociology political science geography and city planning they reconceptualize urban structure and function refocusing attention from the forms of population density to the processes of human interaction Explorations Into Urban Structure William G. Wheaton, Catherine Bauer Wurster, 1964 Explorations in Urban Design Matthew Carmona, 2017-05-15 Whilst recognising that distinctly different traditions exist within the study and practice of urban design this book advances an interdisciplinary and innovative approach which is of direct importance to understanding the urban forms conditions practices and processes It enthuses and inspires users who are grappling with urban design research problems but who need inspiration to move from idea to methodological approach Through the work of 32 urban researchers from the arts sciences and social sciences it demonstrates a wide range of problems and approaches and shows how the diverse range of complementary approaches can come together to provide a holistic understanding to the design of cities While each of the contributors presents a particular approach to researching the field sometimes focusing centrally on particular research methodologies others cutting across methods or focusing on theory all include discussion of actual research projects to illustrate their application to real world problems This book will be valuable to everyone from the informed undergraduate student about to embark on their first dissertation to PhD students and seasoned researchers immersed in methodological and conceptual complexity and wishing to compare available and appropriate methodological paths
