Famine 150 Commemorative Lecture Series:

Famine 150 Cormac Ó Gráda, 1997 The Great Famine Ciarán Ó Murchadha, 2011-06-02 Over one million people died in the Great Famine and more than one million more emigrated on the coffin ships to America and beyond Drawing on contemporary eyewitness accounts and diaries the book charts the arrival of the potato blight in 1845 and the total destruction of the harvests in 1846 which brought a sense of numbing shock to the populace Far from meeting the relief needs of the poor the Liberal public works programme was a first example of how relief policies would themselves lead to mortality Workhouses were swamped with thousands who had subsisted on public works and soup kitchens earlier and who now gathered in ragged crowds Unable to cope workhouse staff were forced to witness hundreds die where they lay outside the walls The next phase of degradation was the clearances or exterminations in popular parlance which took place on a colossal scale From late 1847 an exodus had begun The Famine slowly came to an end from late 1849 but the longer term consequences were to reverberate through future decades Ireland's Great Famine, Britain's Great Failure William H. A. Williams, 2022-02-08 This book provides readers with a unique in depth understanding of the background to the Irish Famine and a detailed account of the crisis as well as the immediate and long term results of the catastrophe In addition to exploring the ecological and agriculture factors this work shows how cultural economic and political influences shaped British attitudes and policies When the entire potato crop failed in the fall of 1846 what began as an ecological disaster quickly became a political one Hampered by long standing prejudice and Anglo Irish tensions the British government's various attempts to deal with the humanitarian crisis were muddled by competing economic and social goals Among these was the idea that the Famine represented an opportunity to purge Ireland of fragmented land holding and potato dependency by encouraging an English type market driven agriculture Changes did occur but the government's imperial dreams eventually ran up against Irish realities Literature and the Irish Famine 1845-1919 Melissa Fegan, 2002-08-08 The impact of the Irish famine of 1845-1852 was unparalleled in both political and psychological terms The effects of famine related mortality and emigration were devastating in the field of literature no less than in other areas In this incisive new study Melissa Fegan explores the famine's legacy to literature tracing it in the work of contemporary writers and their successors down to 1919 Dr Fegan examines both fiction and non fiction including journalism travel narratives and the Irish novels of Anthony Trollope She argues that an examination of famine literature that simply categorizes it as minor or views it only as a silence or an absence misses the very real contribution that it makes to our understanding of the period This is an important contribution to the study of Irish history and literature sharply illuminating contemporary Irish mentalities When the Potato Failed Cormac Ó Gráda, Richard Paping, E. Vanhaute, 2007 The decade that gave rise to the term the Hungry Forties in Europe is often regarded and rightly so as one of deprivation unrest and revolution Two events the Great Irish Famine and the various political events of 1848 stand out This book is the first to discuss the subsistence crisis of the 1840s in a truly comparative way This subsistence crisis may be divided into two rather distinct elements On the one hand the failure of the potato caused by the new unfamiliar fungus phytophthora infestans which first struck Europe in mid 1845 resulted in a catastrophe in Ireland that killed about one million people and radically transformed its landscape and economy Poor potato crops in 1845 and in the following years also resulted in significant excess mortality elsewhere in Europe On the other hand this period and 1846 in particular was also one of poor wheat and rye harvests throughout much of Europe Failure of the grain harvest alone rarely resulted in a subsistence crisis but the combination of poor potato and grain harvests in a single place was a lethal one Connections between the local and the global between the economic and the political and between the rural and the industrial make the crisis of the late 1840s a multi layered one This book offers a comparative perspective on the causes and the effects of what is sometimes considered as the last European subsistence crisis It begins with an extensive introduction that treats the topic in comparative perspective The subsistence crisis had its most catastrophic impact in Ireland and three chapters in the current volume are concerned mainly with that country A fourth chapter uses price data to shed comparative perspective on the crisis while the remaining nine chapters are case studies covering countries ranging from Sweden to Spain and from Scotland to Prussia Throughout the contributors focus on a range of common themes such as the extent of harvest deficits the functioning of food markets fertility and mortality and public action at local and national levels Cormac O Grada is professor of economics at University College Dublin He has worked extensively on the history of famines in Ireland and worldwide Richard Paping teaches economic and social history and economics at University of Groningen He has done extensive research on developments in standard of living economy and demography in the Netherlands Eric Vanhaute is professor social and economic history and world history at Ghent University He has mainly published on the history of the rural society and of labour markets in Flanders and outside Table of contents Eric Vanhaute Richard Paping and Cormac O Grada The European Subsistence Crisis of 1845 1850 a Comparative Perspective PART I The Irish Famine in an International Perspective Cormac O Grada Ireland's Great Famine An overview Mary E Daly Something Old and Something New Recent Research on the Great Irish Famine Peter M Solar The Crisis of the Late 1840s What Can Be Learned From Prices Peter Gray The European Food Crisis and the Relief of Irish Famine 1845 1850 PART II A Potato Famine Outside Ireland Tom M Devine Why the Highlands Did Not Starve Ireland and Highland Scotland During the Potato Famine Eric Vanhaute So Worthy an Example to Ireland The Subsistence and Industrial Crisis of 1845 1850 in Flanders Richard Paping and Vincent Tassenar The Consequences of the Potato Disease in the Netherlands 1845 1860 a Regional Approach Hans H Bass The Crisis in Prussia Gunter Mahlerwein The Consequences of the Potato Blight in South Germany Nadine Vivier The Crisis in France A Memorable Crisis But Not a Potato Crisis Jean Michel Chevet and Cormac O Grada Crisis What Crisis Prices and Mortality in Mid Nineteenth Century France Pedro Diaz Marin Subsistence Crisis and Popular Protest in Spain The Motines of 1847 Ingrid Henriksen A Disaster Seen From the Periphery The Case of Denmark Carl Johan Gadd On the Edge of a Crisis Sweden
