How is an egg made?

We know that hens lay eggs, but what is the science behind how that egg is formed? Here's a look at the whole process:

1 Each day ...

The chicken egg starts as an egg yolk inside a hen. A yolk (called an oocyte) is produced by the hen's ovary in a process called ovulation.

2 18 minutes

The oocyte is released into the oviduct (a long, spiraling tube in the hen's reproductive system).

3 2-3 hours

It takes approximately 3 hours for the albumen to be deposited around the yolk. As the albumen is formed, the yolk rotates, twisting the albuminous fibres to form the chalazae.

4 1 hour

Formation of shell membranes takes a little over an hour.

5 16 hours

The egg spends most of the time in the uterus. Initially some water is added, making the outer white thinner. Then the shell material (mainly calcium carbonate) is added. The egg gets its "bloom," a thin coating which helps it pass through the cloaca smoothly, just before the egg is laid.

6 Minutes

A series of small muscle contractions permits the egg through the cloaca. It stretches outward to release the egg.

During formation, the egg moves through the oviduct small end first. Just before laying, it is rotated and laid large end first. A young hen lays small eggs. The size increases as she gets older.

The whole process takes about 24 hours and begins again shortly after an egg is laid.

Farm fresh

Less than 21 days old. Misshapen eggs are used for other purposes e.g. mayonnaise and dried egg produce. The hens are confined to a cage size providing 750 cm² per hen. Perching space is available at 25 cm per bird.

Value added

Obtained by changing the diet of the hen. More vitamins or omega3 produce an egg with a higher rate of vitamins.

Free range

One acre of field for every 400 hens. Hens are free to roam during the daytime. Buildings used to house hens are typically well ventilated with an area of wood shavings and access to food and water.

Organic

From hens kept in a similar environment to free range but are fed on organic produce and roam on land classified as organic. They are not fed antibiotics to promote growth.
