

the glass

the glass was half-empty he argued the glass was half-full she had said so they told him he was pessimistic that he should think like her instead but what they had failed to fathom and what they had struggled to see was the state of the glass in the first place was key to how it was perceived her glass has been empty to start with so, of course it was now filling up whilst his had been full to the brim, overflowing and spilling right over the cup so, yes it was now looking emptier and maybe his loss made him sad but they told him he couldn't bemoan it for he had more than some people had yet for her they did not use the notion that the way she felt should be ignored no, they didn't tell her that she couldn't be happy 'cos there would be someone with more yes, we should count all our blessings and try to look on the bright side but a loss is a loss, if we see it or not so it's easier just to be kind see they say don't judge books by their covers well, we shouldn't judge glasses by halves and we shouldn't judge people if we've no idea what they had in their glass at the start

Glass Hat Poems:

Glass Hat Richard Stansberger, 1979 The Collected Poems Sylvia Plath, 1981 A complete collection of Sylvia Plath's poetry Yellow Shoe Poets George Garrett, 1999-10-01 Since 1964 when Louisiana State University Press published its inaugural book of verse Miller Williams's A Circle of Stone its poetry list has grown exponentially 191 books by 93 poets into a program that inspires understandable pride in those associated with it Two collections have won the Pulitzer Prize The Flying Change 1986 by Henry Taylor and Alive Together 1996 by Lisel Mueller Another book by Mueller The Need to Hold Still 1980 won the National Book Award while several other LSU titles have been finalists for that distinction most recently The Fields of Praise 1997 by Marilyn Nelson and The Vigil 1993 by Margaret Gibson Dozens more have been recognized for their excellence through a host of various honors The Press publishes the winner of the annual Walt Whitman Award given by The Academy of American Poets for a first collection and in 1996 it launched the Southern Messenger series in collaboration with Dave Smith bringing two shining works into the fold each year The appearance of The Collected Poems of Robert Penn Warren in 1998 meant for the Press the realization of a long dearly held dream To mark this thirty five year old tradition as the century and millennium turn and to offer a sampling of its richness The Yellow Shoe Poets a retrospective anthology was compiled under the editorship of George Garrett a longtime colleague of the Press and the author of eight poetry volumes Say the LSU poets real fast with a southern drawl and you get the ridiculously wonderful moniker that poet Elizabeth Seydel Morgan's young friend innocently mistook for this noble band It's an image Brendan Galvin has appropriated to a perfect fit in his poem Yellow Shoe Poet written on behalf of his fellow yellow shoes across the years All 173 poems are taken from LSU Press books and were selected by the poets themselves if living Arranged alphabetically by author they consist of at least one poem from every poet published by the Press Goethe's admonition that one ought every day at least to read a good poem can find no better starting point than in The Yellow Shoe Poets Contemporary American Poetry Lloyd M. Davis, 1985 Lists over 5 200 titles of books published by American poets between 1973 and 1983 Poems Sarah Morgan Bryan Piatt, 1894

Directions, 1980 Victorian Glassworlds Isobel Armstrong, 2008-04-24 Isobel Armstrong's startlingly original and beautifully illustrated book tells the stories that spring from the mass production of glass in nineteenth century England Moving across technology industry local history architecture literature print culture the visual arts optics and philosophy it will transform our understanding of the Victorian period The mass production of glass in the nineteenth century transformed an ancient material into a modern one at the same time transforming the environment and the nineteenth century imagination It created a new glass culture hitherto inconceivable Glass culture constituted Victorian modernity It was made from infinite variations of the prefabricated glass panel and the lens The mirror and the window became its formative elements both the texts and constituents of glass culture The glassworlds of the century are heterogeneous They manifest themselves in the technologies of the factory furnace in the myths of Cinderella and her glass slipper circulated in print media in the ideologies of the conservatory as building type in the fantasia of the shopfront in the production of chandeliers in the Crystal Palace and the lens made images of the magic lantern and microscope But they were nevertheless governed by two inescapable conditions First to look through glass was to look through the residues of the breath of an unknown artisan because glass was mass produced by incorporating glassblowing into the division of labour Second literally a new medium glass brought the ambiguity of transparency and the problems of mediation into the everyday It intervened between seer and seen incorporating a modern philosophical problem into bodily experience Thus for poets and novelists glass took on material and ontological political and aesthetic meanings Reading glass forwards into Bauhaus modernism Walter Benjamin overlooked an early phase of glass culture where the languages of glass are different The book charts this phase in three parts Factory archives trade union records and periodicals document the individual manufacturers and artisans who founded glass culture the industrial tourists who described it and the systematic politics of window breaking Part Two culminating in glass under glass at the Crystal Palace reads the glassing of the environment including the mirror the window and controversy round the conservatory and their inscription in poems and novels Part Three explores the lens from optical toys to philosophical instruments as the telescope and microscope were known A meditation on its history and phenomenology Victorian Glassworlds is a poetics of glass for nineteenth century modernity New Poetry ,1979 The Other Sylvia Plath Tracy Brain,2014-07-22 Despite being widely studied on both undergraduate and postgraduate courses the writing of Sylvia Plath has been relatively neglected in relation to the attention given to her life and what drove her to suicide Tracy Brain aims to remedy this by introducing completely new approaches to Plath s writing taking the studies away from the familiar concentration to reveal that Plath as a writer was concerned with a much wider range of important cultural and political topics Unlike most of the existing literary criticism it shifts the focus away from biographical readings and encompasses the full range of Plath s poetry prose journals and letters using a variety of critical methods Miscellaneous Poems Andrew Marvell,1923 Virtual Americas Paul Giles,2002-08-15 A discussion on the ways in which representations in the U S have been deflected from mythic to virtual phenomena in literary and cultural works of the modern era The Publishers Weekly ,1902 A Concordance to The Collected Poems of Sylvia Plath Richard M. Matovich,1986 Abstracts of Theses and Dissertations Bowling Green State University,1977 NHQ; the New Hungarian Quarterly ,1983 English Poems Walter Cochrane Bronson,1909 Selected poems of James, 1st marquis of Montrose, and Andrew Marvell, selected by R.S. Rait James GRAHAM (1st Marquis of Montrose.),1901 Godey's Lady's Book ,1890 Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia John Huston Finley,1909 Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia ,1920
