Directory of Museums in Great Britain & Ireland ,1911 Routes James Clifford,1997-04-21 When culture makes itself at home in motion where does an anthropologist stand In a follow up to The Predicament of Culture one of the defining books for anthropology in the last decade James Clifford takes the proper measure a moving picture of a world that doesn t stand still that reveals itself en route in the airport lounge and the parking lot as much as in the marketplace and the museum In this collage of essays meditations poems and travel reports Clifford takes travel and its difficult companion translation as openings into a complex modernity He contemplates a world ever more connected yet not homogeneous a global history proceeding from the fraught legacies of exploration colonization capitalist expansion immigration labor mobility and tourism Ranging from Highland New Guinea to northern California from Vancouver to London he probes current approaches to the interpretation and display of non Western arts and cultures Wherever people and things cross paths and where institutional forces work to discipline unruly encounters Clifford s concern is with struggles to displace stereotypes to recognize divergent histories to sustain postcolonial and tribal identities in contexts of domination and globalization Travel diaspora border crossing self location the making of homes away from home these are transcultural predicaments for the late twentieth century The map that might account for them the history of an entangled modernity emerges here as an unfinished series of paths and negotiations leading in many directions while returning again and again to the struggles and arts of cultural encounter the impossible inescapable tasks of translation

Charles Madeley v 9 p 427 452      Rethinking Evolution in the Museum Monique Scott,2007-11-19 Rethinking Evolution in the Museum explores the ways diverse natural history museum audiences imagine their evolutionary heritage In particular the book considers how the meanings constructed by audiences of museum exhibitions are a product of dynamic interplay between museum iconography and powerful images museum visitors bring with them to the museum In doing so the book illustrates how the preconceived images held by museum audiences about anthropology Africa and the museum itself strongly impact the human origins exhibition experience Although museological theory has come increasingly to recognize that museum audiences make meaning in exhibitions or make their own complex interpretations of museum exhibitions few scholars have explicitly asked how Rethinking Evolution in the Museum however provides a rare window into visitor perceptions at four world class museums the Natural History Museum and Horniman Museum in London the National Museums of Kenya in Nairobi and the American Museum of Natural History in New York Through rigorous and novel mixed methods quantitative and qualitative covering nearly 500 museum visitors this innovative study shows that audiences of human origins exhibitions interpret evolution exhibitions through a profoundly complex convergence of personal political intellectual emotional and cultural interpretive strategies This book also reveals that natural history museum visitors often respond to museum exhibitions similarly because they use common cultural tools picked up from globalized popular media circulating outside of the museum One tool of particular interest is the notion that human evolution has proceeded linearly from a bestial African prehistory to a civilized European present Despite critical growths in anthropological science and museum displays the outdated Victorian progress motif lingers persistently in popular media and the popular imagination Rethinking Evolution in the Museum sheds light on our relationship with natural history museums and will be crucial to those people interested in understanding the connection between the visitor the museum and media culture outside of the museum context      Museum News Laurence Vail Coleman,Mary Bronson Hartt,1924      Directory of Michigan Museums Geneva Smithe,1930      The Educational Value of Museums Louise Connolly,1914      A Report on the Public Museums of the British Isles (other Than the National Museums) Sir Henry Alexander Miers,Carnegie United Kingdom Trust,1928

Shedding New Light on Art Museum Additions Altaf Engineer,Kathryn H. Anthony,2017-07-20 Vast sums of money spent to design construct and maintain museum additions demand great accountability of museum leaders and design professionals towards visitors and employees Museum visitors today come not only to view works of art but also to experience museum architecture itself resulting in most major cities competing to build new museum additions or new museum buildings to become world class tourist destinations Shedding New Light on Art Museum Additions presents post occupancy evaluations of four high profile museums and their additions in the United States and helps museum stakeholders understand their successes shortcomings and how their designs affect both visitors and employees who use them every day The book helps decision makers assess the short term and long term impacts of future proposals for new museum additions and illuminates the critical importance of investing in employee work environments and giving serious consideration to lighting wayfinding accessibility and the effects of museum fatigue that arise from the lack of public amenities Museum leaders curators architects designers consultants patrons of the arts and museum visitors will find this book to be a useful resource when planning and evaluating new building additions
