Enduring Seeds:

Enduring Seeds Gary Paul Nabhan, 2016-10-01 As biological diversity continues to shrink at an alarming rate the loss of plant species poses a threat seemingly less visible than the loss of animals but in many ways more critical In this book one of America's leading ethnobotanists warns about our loss of natural vegetation and plant diversity while providing insights into traditional Native agricultural practices in the Americas Gary Paul Nabhan here reveals the rich diversity of plants found in tropical forests and their contribution to modern crops then tells how this diversity is being lost to agriculture and lumbering He then relates local parables of Native American agriculture from wild rice in the Great Lakes region to wild gourds in Florida that convey the urgency of this situation and demonstrate the need for saving the seeds of endangered plants Nabhan stresses the need for maintaining a wide gene pool not only for the survival of these species but also for the preservation of genetic strains that can help scientists breed more resilient varieties of other plants Enduring Seeds is a book that no one concerned with our environment can afford to ignore It clearly shows us that as agribusiness increasingly limits the food on our table a richer harvest can be had by preserving ancient ways This edition features a new foreword by Miguel Altieri one of today's leading spokesmen for sustainable agriculture and the preservation of indigenous farming methods

Community based initiatives to preserve and protect our food supply Historically seed companies were generally small often family run businesses Because they were regionally based they could focus on varieties well suited to the local environment A Pacific Northwest company for example would specialize in different cultivars than a company based in the Southeast However the absorption of these small independent seed businesses into large multinationals combined with the advancement of biotechnology resulting in hybrids and GMO seeds has led to a serious loss of genetic diversity The public is now at the mercy of the corporations that control the seeds In the past few years gardeners have realized the inherent danger in this situation A growing movement is striving to preserve and expand our stock of heritage and heirloom varieties through seed saving and sharing opportunities Seed Libraries is a practical guide to saving seeds through community programs including Step by step instructions for setting up a seed library A wealth of ideas to help attract patrons and keep the momentum going Profiles of existing libraries and other types of seed saving partnerships Whoever controls the seeds controls the food supply By empowering communities to preserve and protect the genetic diversity of their harvest Seed Libraries is the first step towards reclaiming our self reliance while enhancing food security and ensuring that the future of food is healthy vibrant tasty and nutritious Cindy Conner is a permaculture educator founder of Homeplace Earth and producer of two popular instructional gardening DVDs She is also the author of Grow a Sustainable Diet American Seedsman ,1922 Diversity ,1993 House & Garden ,1918 Report West Virginia.
