

A close-up, slightly low-angle shot of a man's face. He has a serious, contemplative expression and is looking slightly to the right of the camera. He is wearing a light-colored, short-sleeved button-down shirt. The background is out of focus, showing what appears to be a window with blinds.

Facing Death:

Facing Death Sarah K. Pinnock, 2016-12-05 What do we learn about death from the Holocaust and how does it impact our responses to mortality today Facing Death Confronting Mortality in the Holocaust and Ourselves brings together the work of eleven Holocaust and genocide scholars who address these difficult questions convinced of the urgency of further reflection on the Holocaust as the last survivors pass away The volume is distinctive in its dialogical and introspective approach where the contributors position themselves to confront their own impending death while listening to the voices of victims and learning from their life experiences Broken into three parts this collection engages with these voices in a way that is not only scholarly but deeply personal The first part of the book engages with Holocaust testimony by drawing on the writings of survivors and witnesses such as Elie Wiesel Jean Améry and Charlotte Delbo including rare accounts from members of the Sonderkommando Reflections of post Holocaust generations the children and grandchildren of survivors are housed in the second part addressing questions of remembrance and memorialization The concluding essays offer intimate self reflection about how engagement with the Holocaust impacts the contributors lives faiths and ethics In an age of continuing atrocities this volume provides careful attention to the affective dimension of coping with death in particular how loss and grief are deferred or denied narrated and passed along

Facing Death August Strindberg, 1911 Facing Death F. David Martin, 2006 If we do not at some point in our life face death thinking hard and straight about it we turn away from our authenticity If that facing rejects irrational faith dogmas mystifications and personal immortality is there yet a path free of despair

Facing Death Howard Marget Spiro, Mary G. McCrea Curnen, Lee Palmer Wandel, 1998-10-01 While technology for keeping death at bay has advanced greatly people are less well informed about how to face death and how to understand or articulate the emotional or spiritual need of the dying This work aims to help medical personnel and patients to view death as a defining part of life

(Inter)Facing Death Sam Han, 2019-10-16 In modern times death is understood to have undergone a transformation not unlike religion Whereas in the past it was out in the open it now resides mostly in specialized spaces of sequestration funeral homes hospitals and other medical facilities A mainstay in so called traditional societies in the form of ritual practices death was usually messy but meaningful with the questions of what happens to the dead or where they go lying at the heart of traditional culture and religion In modernity however we are said to have effectively sanitized it embalmed it and packaged it but it seems that death is back In the current era marked by economic political and social uncertainty we see it on television on the Internet we see it almost everywhere Inter Facing Death analyzes the nexus of death and digital culture in the contemporary moment in the context of recent developments in social cultural and political theory It argues that death today can be thought of as interfaced that is mediated and expressed in various aspects of contemporary life rather than put to the side or overcome as many narratives of modernity have suggested Employing concepts from anthropology sociology media studies and communications Inter Facing Death examines diverse phenomena where death and digital culture meet including art online suicide pacts the mourning of celebrity deaths terrorist beheadings and selfies Providing new lines of thinking about one of the oldest questions facing the human and social sciences this book will appeal to scholars and students of social and political theory anthropology sociology and cultural and media studies with interests in death

Facing Death Sandra L. Bertman,1991 This work draws upon material from the visual arts poetry fiction drama and pop culture to help lead the reader to a heightened awareness of the universal nature of the issues that face the dying and those who care for them The author argues

Facing Death: Images, Insights, and Interventions Sandra L. Bertman,2016-01-08 Facing Death is a unique handbook for educators healthcare professionals and counselors It uses materials from the visual arts excerpts from poetry fiction drama and examples from popular culture to sensitize the reader to important universal issues confronting the dying and those responsible for their care
