The Box Man Kobo Abe,2011-12-14 Kobo Abe the internationally acclaimed author of Woman in the Dunes combines wildly imaginative fantasies and naturalistic prose to create narratives reminiscent of the work of Kafka and Beckett In this eerie and evocative masterpiece the nameless protagonist gives up his identity and the trappings of a normal life to live in a large cardboard box he wears over his head Wandering the streets of Tokyo and scribbling madly on the interior walls of his box he describes the world outside as he sees or perhaps imagines it a tenuous reality that seems to include a mysterious rifleman determined to shoot him a seductive young nurse and a doctor who wants to become a box man himself The Box Man is a marvel of sheer originality and a bizarrely fascinating fable about the very nature of identity Translated from the Japanese by E Dale Saunders

Great Adaptations Kenneth Catania,2021-10-12 Presents an entertaining and engaging look at some of nature s most remarkable creatures Shows not only how studying these animals can provide deep insights into how life evolved but also how scientific discovery can be filled with adventure and fun Adapted from cover

Critical Leadership Theory Jennifer L.S. Chandler,Robert E. Kirsch,2018-09-26 This book contributes five novel tenets for building a critical theory of leadership studies Drawing from transdisciplinary insights these tenets help shape the emerging field of inquiry They also facilitate the examination of normative social processes that reinscribe hegemonic power relations because much of what is accomplished in current leadership scholarship teaching and practice reinforces these power relations The book begins by contrasting critical theory with positivist approaches to analyzing social phenomena and what follows is an exploration of four broad disciplines using sub components of leadership as an investigatory lens The resulting five tenets are presented and discussed so that they may be picked up and used by scholars contributing to the developing field of critical leadership studies
