Ukrainian Female War Migrants Izabela Grabowska, Ivanna Kyliushyk, Emil Chról, 2025-06-05 This book delves into the experiences of Ukrainian women forced to leave their country in search of refuge following the devastating escalation of Russian war in February 2022 exploring the diverse forms of capital they bring with them and develop on the way Drawing on extensive original research the book focuses on Ukrainian female war migrants in Poland a country that even before the war served as the primary destination for Ukrainian labour migrants and now hosts a significant number of refugees The book examines the human social psychological and economic capital Ukrainian women bring with them alongside their participation in the local labour market their mobilisation of resources and the acquisition of new skills and knowledge Far from merely documenting this historic wave of migration this book highlights the potential of Ukrainian women to become key agents in Ukraine's post war reconstruction and development by bringing social remittances such as ideas practices and norms back home with them Integrating advanced statistical analysis of data from over 340 migrants with rich qualitative insights this book will be an important resource for researchers studying migration security politics sociology and development It also provides valuable insights and data for NGOs and policymakers working to support Ukrainian migrants in Poland and beyond

The Woman War Correspondent, the U.S. Military, and the Press Carolyn M. Edy, 2016-12-13 Honorable Mention recipient for the American Journalism Historians Association Book of the Year Award this book outlines the rich history of more than 250 women who worked as war correspondents up through World War II while demonstrating the ways in which the press and the military both promoted and prevented their access to war Despite the continued presence of individual female war correspondents in news accounts if not always in war zones it was not until 1944 that the military recognized these individuals as a group and began formally considering sex as a factor for recruiting and accrediting war correspondents This group identity created obstacles for women who had previously worked alongside men as war correspondents while creating opportunities for many women whom the military recruited to cover woman's angle news as women war correspondents This book also reveals the ways the military and the press as well as women themselves constructed the concepts of woman war correspondent and war correspondent and how these concepts helped and hindered the work of all war correspondents even as they challenged and ultimately expanded the public's understanding of war and of women

The Women's War Deborah Montgomerie, 2001 This book explains the ambiguities of wartime changes in the private and public lives of New Zealand women It considers women as mothers wives and lovers as well as workers using many examples from real lives Deborah Montgomerie's main argument is that despite the changes the war was essentially a conservative period pointing out that understanding the continuities in gender relations is as important as cataloguing female firsts Her book stylishly challenges accepted wisdom and offers a clear fresh view of a period often viewed through the blurry lens of nostalgia and anecdote coin to open up the real estate tycoon's wonderful life. One of them was to activate the changes to the Wind and Water Movement. Our World, 1923. Routledge Handbook of Media, Conflict and Security Piers Robinson, Philip Seib, Romy Frohlich, 2016-11-10. This Handbook links the growing body of media and conflict research with the field of security studies. The academic sub-field of media and conflict has developed and expanded greatly over the past two decades. Operating across a diverse range of academic disciplines, academics are studying the impact the media has on governments pursuing war responses to humanitarian crises and violent political struggles and the role of the media as a facilitator of and a threat to both peace building and conflict prevention. This handbook seeks to consolidate existing knowledge by linking the body of conflict and media studies with work in security studies. The handbook is arranged into five parts: Theory and Principles; Media, the State and War; Media and Human Security; Media and Policymaking within the Security State; New Issues in Security and Conflict and Future Directions. For scholars of security studies, this handbook will provide a key point of reference for state-of-the-art scholarship concerning the media security nexus. For scholars of communication and media studies, the handbook will provide a comprehensive mapping of the media conflict field. Special Libraries, 1917.
