PN Review, 2006 Understanding Jorie Graham N. S. Boone, 2025-12-11 The first comprehensive study of Pulitzer Prize winning poet Jorie Graham Since her first book appeared in 1980 Jorie Graham has challenged readers with her bold innovative and capacious poetry In the collections that followed she expanded the scope of the lyric form through her maximalist poetics her provocative ethical imagination and in later years her environmentalist vision Graham was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for The Dream of the Unified Field and has served as a chancellor of the Academy of American Poets As a professor at Harvard University and the University of Iowa Writers Workshop Graham has mentored and inspired the next generation of poets In Understanding Jorie Graham N S Boone situates Graham among post World War II and contemporary American poets and he provides a look inside her life and career based on a series of exclusive personal interviews Boone then traces the development of Graham's themes and style through her collections providing detailed readings of the most significant poems in Graham's corpus For scholars students and fans of Graham's poetry the volume provides essential context and insight

The Bloodaxe Book of Poetry Quotations Dennis O'Driscoll, 2006 What is a poem What can it do How does a poet know when a poem is finished This book offers insights into the mindsets and dress codes of poets their lusts and lives and hates and loves It is useful for teachers students reading groups workshops and those interested in poetry

The Tethers Carrie Etter, 2009 Carrie Etter's collection of poetry The Tethers responds to loss with humour and appreciation of the world in all its variety and detail The book roams from an imaginary village to Manhattan southern California London Arizona the Czech Republic and Etter's homeland the Illinois prairie

A Season of Small Insanities Andrea Porter, 2009 These poems introduce voices that clamour to be heard The language is vibrantly now the context the everyday but at times things are a little skewed as if something slightly odd has been glimpsed out of the corner of the eye The poet inhabits a world where angels comment on tea towels in a gift shop

Medusa travels on the train Emily Dickinson waits for a phone call a woman has dinner with Goya's polished skull However reality is brought sharply into focus by the trafficked east European girl the Zimbabwean immigrant woman the carer the sex chat line worker the people in the all night petrol station Every emotion that make us fully human including humour weave through this collection The poems mirror life and show us who we are who we could have been and who we might become In the final section we are drawn into the world of personal trauma and loss This is the mirror we would rather walk away from and yet the scalpel like precision of each word the light touch of the language beckons us in as if we already know that the you watched in this sequence could easily be us if we happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time This book has a compulsive and vital authenticity after reading it you feel that you have been on a journey with the poet through a strange yet also oddly familiar landscape and have arrived somewhere well worth visiting
