C.S. Lewis Bruce J. Edwards, 2007

Science Fiction Roger Luckhurst, 2005-05-06 In this new and timely cultural history of science fiction Roger Luckhurst examines the genre from its origins in the late nineteenth century to its latest manifestations The book introduces and explicates major works of science fiction literature by placing them in a series of contexts using the history of science and technology political and economic history and cultural theory to develop the means for understanding the unique qualities of the genre Luckhurst reads science fiction as a literature of modernity His astute analysis examines how the genre provides a constantly modulating record of how human embodiment is transformed by scientific and technological change and how the very sense of self is imaginatively recomposed in popular fictions that range from utopian possibility to Gothic terror This highly readable study charts the overlapping yet distinct histories of British and American science fiction with commentary on the central authors magazines movements and texts from 1880 to the present day It will be an invaluable guide and resource for all students taking courses on science fiction technoculture and popular literature but will equally be fascinating for anyone who has ever enjoyed a science fiction book The Renewal of Preaching in the Twenty-first Century, Second Edition David J. Randolph,2008-07-01 Deep faith meets high tech here in The Renewal of Preaching in the Twenty first Century A communications revolution is sweeping through the churches leaving some on fire and others burned out This work shows what makes the difference for church leaders and communities who are using new media to advance Christian preaching Join them by recovering the great tradition and expanding it through creative use encouraged by artists and filmmakers as well as preachers and professors This work explores ways to maximize the promise of preaching and confront the perils leading to the renewal of church and society Beginning with review of the situation today we proceed step by step through the preparation and presentation of the sermon leading to transformation The sermon in the local parish is seen as the microcosm of the macrocosm that is the communication of God s good news
