God Creates:

God Created the Universe with the Purpose to Serve Humankind Fateh Ullah Khan,2009 Jonathan Edwards' Concerning The End for Which God Created the World Walter J. Schultz,2020-01-20 This book is an exposition of Jonathan Edwards argumentation in his dissertation Concerning the End for Which God Created the World In addition to stating Edwards theses regarding God s end and motivation in creation this book identifies and discusses the assumptions of his argumentation analyses and explains its crucial components and explores its philosophical implications These implications include a version of exemplarism i e the nature of God s ideas for creation dispositionalism i e the characteristics of God which explain God s motivation and emanationism i e what God shares of himself with persons who have a living faith in Christ These entail a view of idealism i e a view of the ultimate ontological ground of the universe God s temporal nature continuous creationism i e how God sustains creation a version of panentheism i e how God who is infinite is related to creation from which God is absolutely distinct and occasionalism i e the nature of causation of physical events or states of creation These concepts and what they entail constitute a complete metaphysical system providing a thoroughgoing divine action understanding of the foundation of reality For Jonathan Edwards God s acting according to his plans for his purposes in Christ is fundamental to all things Were we to have an understanding of how the fundamental concepts of science mathematics and ordinary experience are related in reality to the God who acts for his original ultimate end in creation sustaining the universe while providentially guiding its affairs and working redemption we would have the opportunity to
